CLOSING A FAMOUS OLD HOTEL.

A BREWERS' EXCHANGE TO BE ERECTED ON THE SITE OF THE NEW-YORK.

The New-York Hotel yesterday passed officially into a memory. The last parting guest was speeded. at the door and nodded to the head porter, who all day long kept a sad vigil in the emptied and dusty asil. The famous old hetel was closed forever.

It has had an eventful history since it was built in 1544. It occupies the block on the west side of Breadway between Waverley and Washington places It was epened in 1845 under the management of Captain Comstock, a well-known steamtout captain. He remained only a few years, and gave place to Mr. Judson. Mr. Judson found a better opportunity in the Gramercy Park Hotel and left, surrendering his lease to Hiram Cranston and D. M. Hildreth. These two able managers had the property at the time of its greatest prosperity. Mr. Cranston, after a few years, surrendered his interest to Mr. Brockway, and Brockway and Hildreth continued in command. Mr. Craffston later on succeeded in getting control of the lease, and sold it at once to a new combination composed of Mr. Brockway and Frank Wrisley. Afterward Wrisley took sole charge of th hotel, and in 1875, after a series of misler unes, he failed and made an assignment. The hotel started again during the same year, with Hiram Oransten again at the helm, and associated with him was his nephew, Henry Cranston. Hiram died soot afterward, and Henry remained in charge until a little over a year ago, when he, too, failed, and the property was placed in the hands of Receiver Eggs on Winihrop, ir. He appointed as manager George Glover, who has been in charge up to the present

The property has passed into the hands of Guggen-helmer and Clausen, as announced some days ago. It is indersteed that they are to erect a brewers' ex-things in the middle of the block, with office buildings on either side.

A sale at auction of an interesting collection of antique Chinese porcelaius, bronzes, jades, enamels, lacquers, curios, Thibetan and Mongolian Mois, books, etc., owned by Baron M. von Brandt, the German Ambassador at Pekin, China, was begun at the American Art Galleries, No. 6 East Twenty-third st., yesteriay afternoon. About one fourth of the entire col-lection was sold for $4,600. The sale will be con-tinued to-day, to-merro w and on Friday, at 3 e'clock 2. m. Among the articles sold yesterday were a large of globular shape, decorated with fishes and water in yellow, blue and jude green; height, four toen inches; diameter, fifteen inches, $350. Charles A. Dana; large vase, cylindrical shape with inched and raised dragon, wave and clouds in turquoise and the glaze on dark purple ground, Ming dynasty, 200, Mr. Oaster. Stanley Mortiner bought a hand-tee far and a tail vase for $00 and $70 respectively.

It was said yesterday that the Metropolitan Tracthe Company had applied to Michael T. Daly, the Commissioner of Public Works, for permission to lay neks in Lenox-ave. The company thinks that it thould receive a permit to do this because it has leased the Sixth Avenue Railroad. In 1852 that received permission to build a railroad from Vesey-st. to the Harlem River. When Thomas F. 6throy, now Mayor, became Commissioner of Public Works he revoked the permit. Commissioner Michael T. Daly, of the Department of Public Works, was asked if it were true that he was about to grant to the Metropolitan Traction Company permission to lay railway tracks in Lenox ave. under the old Sixth-ave, charter. missioner replied: "I am advised by the Corporation Counsel that the Metropolitan Traction Company is clearly entitled, under the charter of the Sixth Avenue Railroad Company, to a permit to lay tracks and operate a railway in Lenox-ave."

A POLICEMAN'S STORY CAUSES TROUBLE

HE SAYS A HEALTH INSPECTOR ORDERED A TYPHUS PATIENT TAKEN TO THE HOS-PITAL IN A STREET CAR.

A story sent out by the Eldridge st. police yesterday morning has caused much annoyance to the officials of the Health Department. Shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning, it was said, Inspector John L. Andrews, of the Bureau of Contagious Diseases, approaching a policeman, asked him to go to the lodging-house No. 25 Bowery. The policeman accompanied the Inspector to the house, and there they found, on the third floor, Louis Muller, fiftyseven years old, sick with what appeared to be typhus fever. Disregarding the symptoms, say the police, Inspector Andrews asked the policeman to take Muller to the Willard Purker Hospital, and suggested a public horse-car as a suitable means of conveyance. The policeman refused to do this, according to his tory, and sent for an ambulance.

An hour later Dr. Aspell, of the Health Departnent, went to the house, and, after a careful examination, found that Muller was not suffering from typhus fever, and he was accordingly discharged from cus-tody.

Chief Inspector Roberts yesterday said that In-spector Andrews had not asked the policeman to travel in a horse-car with a suspected typhus patient.

SOME OF THE YORKTOWN'S CREW HERE.

THE ALLIANCA BRINGS THEM HOME, AND ALSO HAS BRAZILIAN GOODS FOR THE BIG FAIR.

The steamer Allianca, from Brazil ports, reached this port yesterday with nine of the shipwrecked crew of the Yorktown, the ship which went ashore fourteen miles north of Jurugua, Brazil, on December It was said yesterday that the Yorktown was out of her course, and would not have met disaster if she had been kept farther out at sea. The Yorktown was abandoned in a sinking condition. There were also on board the Allianca two seamen from the bark A. C. Bean, which put into the harbor of st. Thomas with a bad leak. There were also three men from the abandoned schooner Victor.

The Allianca brought a portion of the Brazilian exhibit for the World's Fuir at Chicago. Lashed to her deck was an Indian canno made from a log of mahogany. It was 44 feet long, 4 12 wide and was 2 1-2 feet deep. It had a sharp prow. In the hold of the Allianca were twenty-nine cases filled with of the Allianca were twenty-mas and indica pattery and household utenalls. There were also a large number of photographs and views of Brazillan scenery. There were 120 trunks of native trees and eight cases of samples of rubber. A large tent of bark was included in the cargo. It was shipped in four sections.

THE COURTS.

WALLACE C. ANDREWS ON THE STAND. HE TESTIFIES IN THE SUIT AGAINST HIM BY

C. F. WINCH, The religious beliefs of Wallace C. Andrews delayed for a few minutes yesterday the trial of the suit against him brought by Charles F. Winch, to recover $9,500. alleged to be due on the sale of stock of the Standard Gas Light Company. Mr. Andrews was called as a witness in his own behalf, before Judge Giegerich, in the Court of Common Pleas. Just as he was walking to the witness chair and the clerk was about to take the oath, ex-Judge F. G. Gedney, who appeared for

"Do you believe in a supreme being?" Mr. Andrews hesitated and finally said:

Mr. Andrews appealed to Judge Glegerich and the Court told him that he must answer the question He did not do so audibly, however, but raised his hand to affirm without the Bible. Earlier in the day Mr. Winch had given his own side of the case. He said that in April, 1888, he had talked with Andrews about selling some of the stock of the Standard Gas Light Company to B. T. Babbitt. Andrews had thought it would be a good thing and also suggested that Andrews might be able to help Winch in making a bigger sale than he could make alone Winch declared that he should not like to have his commission of 85 a share affected by the interference of Andrews, and Andrews replied, according to the plaintiff's story, that there would be no difference in the commissions. Winch then introduced Andrews to Eabbitt and he heard no more about the matter for some time. Finally he learned that Bubbitt had bought 1,000 shares of the stock of the company, and acknowledged the sale of the stock, but said that it had been sold at $95 a share to induce Rabbitt to take : large block, and that if the price had been maintained at $100 a share Bubblit would probably not have take resentations. Winch declared, which finally induced him to accept $500. He now believed that Andrew deceived him and that the sale was properly brought about and that he was fairly entitled to the commis-Babbitt also bought 1,000 shares of the common stock of the company, the first block bling preferred stock Winch wanted commission on that also, but Andrews authorized to sell common stock on any terms, and that this stock belong d to Andrews personally, and not to Several witnesses were called to testify to details, and then the defendant took the witness stand. After the difficulty of the method of his taking the enth was settled, he repeated the story practically as Winch had teld it up to the time of the sale of the stock. He declared, however, that he never told Winch that his own interference would have no effect his introduction by Winch he had not known Mr. Babbitt personally. Mr. Winch was present at or two interviews with Mr. Babbitt, and then the witness had invited Mr. Bubbitt to go over th works. He went, and expressed himself pleased with what he saw. He bought 1,000 shares of the preferred stock at 95, the witness telling him, he declared, that he would let him have it at that price as he would save the commission by buying from Andrews, as president of the company. Babblit also bought 1,000 shares of the costock at 68 1-4, which Andrews held personally.

When Winch came to him for his commis-When Winch came to him for his commission he told him that he did not think he was actually entitled to anything, as Babbitt was one of the men about whom he had been thinking as a possible investor in the company, and Winch had singly got in a little ahead of him. He told Winch arso that he thought possibly he might have sold 100 shares of stock to Babbitt, and Andrews was willing to recommend to the company the payment of $500 to Winch. In a case almost similar he told Winch he had got $500 for a little "chin mush, and he thought he had earned the money castly. He defied that he had earned the money castly. He defied that he had mished Winch in any way, sometime inter Winch came to him about the purchase by Babbitt of 1,000 shares of the common stock. He thought he ought to have something for that. Andrews told him that this transaction was merely accidental, and was between himself personally and Andrews told him that this transaction was merely accidental, and was between himself personally and Mr. Babbitt, and had nothing to do with the company. Winch persisted, and, according to the festimony of Andrews, threatened to have some scandal one articles published in the newspapers if something were not paid to him. After he had made this threat two or three times Andrews asserted that he told Winch he was trying to blackmail him, and said to him:

HE SAYS THAT HE HAS NO MONEY.

W. Welmore Cryder, the vice-president of the New York and New Jersey Bridge Company, and until recently the president of the Madison Square Bank, swore yesterday that he had not a dollar in the world with which to pay his bills. Arnold & Constable had a bill against him for $100 for articles which he ought on April 20, 1892. He failed to pay and the firm brought a sult in the City Court, in which judgment was secured for the amount mentioned entirely unsatisfied, and Mr. Cryder was ordered to appear for examination in supplementary proceeding.
That examination was held by Maurice Marks yesterday, and Mr. Cryder swore that he had neither money nor property.

RUMORED ABSORPTION OF AN EDISON COMPANY Cincinnatt, Feb. 21.-There was a rumor here to day that the Edison Electric Company, which has the contract for the lighting of this city, had been ab sorbed by the gas company. Considerable color was given the story by the fact that the directors of the Edison Company held an annual meeting yesterday. George B. Kerper, the president, says that there is no truth in the report and that no such idea has ever been entertained by his company. General Hickenlooper, president of the gas company, will given the story by the fact that the directors of

"Only this and nothing more."

There is this to be said about Johann Hoff's

Malt Extract, that these who have once taken it diseard all others. This is clearly indicated by the rapid increase in its sales. When pa-cents everywhere have once adopted Johann

Hoff's Malt Extract the difference between it and inferior extracts usually sold as "Hoff's Extract" is so manifestly apparent that they will not bear even the mention of any other

And the reason is that it is not only more grateful to the palate, but its action is immediate and its results permanent. Johann
